

TEACHER SELF-EDUCATION AS A COMPONENT OF THE SYSTEM OF CONTINUOUS EDUCATION

Daminova Shahista Kabulovna

Retraining and in-service institute of managers and specialists of system of public education named after A. Avloni, Tashkent, UZBEKISTAN

ABSTRACT

The main content and essence of this article focuses on self-education. Self-education considers as a process of independent and cognitive awareness activity of a teacher. It identifies the needs, motives, that motivate the teachers to educate themselves, and reflects the areas, sources, results, organization, personal action plan of self-education and the use of information technology and the Internet, which plays a significant role in the effectiveness of the teacher's self-development.

Keywords: Self-education, self-development, professional development, education process, lifelong learning, competence, information and computer technologies, teacher's personal action plan on the directions of self-education.