

THE METHODOLOGY OF DEVELOPING EDUCATION IN MATHEMATICS

Dilsora Abduvalieva

Doctoral student of Tashkent State Pedagogical University
Tashkent, Uzbekistan

ABSTRACT

Developmental learning is learning based on the laws of personality development, in which the developing effect is not a side effect, but a direct result. It considers the child as a person living today, and creates a maximum of favorable conditions for its development. Students need to develop independent thinking, the ability to self-education and self-development.

Keywords: Methodology, teaching math lesson, modern technologies, psychological understanding, didactic play, lotto, domino, public-personal.