

IMPLEMENTATION OF INDEPENDENT EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES OF STUDENTS

Muratov Khusan Holmuratovich

He is a senior teacher of the Department of Fine Arts of the Chirchik State Pedagogical Institute of Tashkent region

ABSTRACT

One of the main objectives of the National training program is to prepare a well-rounded, competitive, intellectually developed young generation that meets modern challenges. To solve these problems, self-development and self-learning are particularly relevant, since in the age of information, when everyone has access to a huge amount of knowledge and information, and learning should not be limited to knowledge provided only in the classroom.

Keywords: Independent work, independent approach, independent learning, independent reading, independent thinking, technology, process.