

TECHNOLOGY IS GETTING RID OF THE NOISE IN SPEECH PERCEPTION

I. U. Nazarov, Senior lecturer, Department of “Information technologies” Tashkent state pedagogical university named after Nizami

M. M. Payazov, Doctorate of TUIT (Tashkent University of Information Technologies)

M. Z. Tadjibayeva, lecturer of the Department “Methodology of Teaching Computer science”, Tashkent state pedagogical university named after Nizami

ABSTRACT

The article presents the technology of processing human speech by processing information on an extended frequency range, which gives the potential to use it in different devices transmitted through communication channels, IP-telephony, telecommunications and in the field of medicine, namely - in audiology and sign language.

Keywords: Speech signals, phoneme, filtering, noise, acoustics, frequency range.