

INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGIES AS A FACTOR OF IMPROVING THE QUALITY OF THE EDUCATIONAL PROCESS

Salomova Rano Vassievna

Independent Researcher of the Department of Pedagogy, Psychology and Teaching Methods, Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Engineers of Agricultural Mechanization, UZBEKISTAN

ABSTRACT

This article highlights the importance of information and communication technologies in improving the quality of educational process, the role and importance of the learner's ability to develop skills in independent knowledge and practice, and how to achieve effective results through the use of computers and the Internet.

Keywords: Educational process, learner, computer, internet, local area network, quality of educational process, qualification, practical activity.

1.