

THE ROLE AND LINGUOPRAGMATICS OF FUNCTIONAL PARTS OF SPEECH OF THE UZBEK LANGUAGE IN THE LINGUISTIC SYSTEM

Pardaev Azamat Bakhronovich
Doctor of Philological sciences
Professor of the Department of Uzbek linguistics
Samarkand State University
Samarkand, Uzbekistan
E-mail: a_pardayev@mail.ru

&

Odinaev Bekkul Imamkulovich
Researcher of the Department of Uzbek Linguistics
Samarkand State University
E-mail: odinayev_bekkul@mail.ru

ABSTRACT

Identify the role of function words in Uzbek language system, relation to content words, sources of enrichment and methods, historical and evolutionary development and determination of functional-stylistic and substantial-pragmatic features in speech. The aim of the papers is to define the status of the Uzbek language function words in the linguistic system, and to reveal their source and methods of enrichment, historical and evolutionary development, as well as functional-stylistic and substantial-pragmatic features.

Keywords: Function words, word, morpheme, auxiliary, conjunction, particles, grammatical, functional parts, Uzbek language, pragmatic-stylistic analysis, functional-semantic features, discursive analysis.